Our main question is easy to formulate. Let R be a set of finitary relations on a nonempty base set A , and let $\text{Aut } R$ denote the set of all automorphisms of the structure $(A; (\varrho)_{\varrho \in R})$. Conversely, if G is a set of permutations on A , then $\text{slnv } G$ denotes the the set of all relations σ on A such that all permutations in G are automorphisms of σ . (Formal Definitions follow in the next section.) The question is: How can we characterize the relation sets of the form $\text{slnv } \text{Aut } R$?

Of course, the operator $\text{slnv } \text{Aut}$ is a closure operator, and the operator pair $\text{slnv} - \text{Aut}$ forms a Galois connection between sets of relations on A and sets of permutations on A . We can reformulate our problem as “Which sets R of relations are Galois-closed, i.e., satisfy $R = \text{slnv } \text{Aut } R$?” or: “Describe the closure operator $\text{slnv } \text{Aut}$ internally”, i.e., without explicit reference to permutations.

Probably the first one who investigated this question in a systematic way was Marc Krasner. Influenced by the Galois connection between permutation groups and field extensions he tried to ‘generalize the notion of a field’ [7]. Instead of the action of permutations on field elements, he considered the more complex action on relations. For finite base sets A he described the closed sets of relations with the help of some operations on relations. A logical operation on relations is an operation, definable by a formula of the first order logic. (For details see the next section.) We call a set of relations a Krasner algebra if it is closed under all logical operations. For finite A , the Galois closed sets of relations are exactly the Krasner algebras.
